Ever since I was little, my favorite season was winter. I loved to play in the snow and enjoyed drinking hot chocolate. 11, winter never gave me the special gift of snow on my birthday. The snow sometimes disappeared before my birthday, or started after it. One time, I asked my grandmother 12 it didn't snow on my birthday. She laughed and promised that she would make it 13 when I was enjoying life to the fullest. That year, before my 16th birthday, my grandmother died, and I cried for days. I was at a(n) 14 loss. And I lost all hope of snow.

At my birthday party, I enjoyed the 15 of my family and friends although I was very sad at the absence of my grandmother. Suddenly, I saw the white snow falling all around. And it was at that moment I knew my grandmother was still with me.

閱讀測驗

One of the biggest differences between men and women is how they cope with stress. Under stress, men become increasingly focused and withdrawn while women become increasingly overwhelmed and emotionally involved. At these times, a man's needs for feeling good are different from a woman's. He feels better by solving problems while she feels better by talking about problems. Understanding and accepting these differences reduces unnecessary friction in our relationships.

Let's look at a common example. When Tom comes home from a stressful day, he wants to relax and unwind by quietly reading the news. If he encounters problems at work, he prefers to solve them by himself. Sometimes, he finds relief just by forgetting them. His wife, Mary, also wants to relax from her stressful day. However, she finds relief by talking about the problems of her day. Tom secretly thinks Mary talks too much, while Mary feels ignored. The tension which slowly builds up between them gradually becomes resentment.

This example is present in almost every male-female relationship. Solving this problem depends not on how much people love each other but on how much they understand the opposite sex. Insights about men and women can be gleaned by grasping every opportunity to understand how each gender deals with stress, motivation, fulfillment, and appreciation. A thorough comparison between men's and women's behavior may deepen mutual understanding and help improve their relationship.

21. What is this passage mainly about?
- (A) The reason why men are quiet.
 - (B) Strategies in handling divorce.
 - (C) Gender differences in handling stress.

- (A) Watch the news quietly.
 - (B) Forget about their problems.
 - (C) Seek help from their wives.
 - (D) Solve the problems by themselves.

23. What does the example mentioned in the text illustrate?
- (A) When women would stop talking to men.
 - (B) Why men might be ignored in the family.
 - (C) When men and women fight over job problems.
 - (D) How misunderstandings between men and women start.
24. Which of the following is closest in meaning to the word “gleaned” in the third paragraph?
