Deserts are almost everywhere. We can find them in Asia, Africa, and many other areas. In some places, deserts are growing and this unfortunately causes a serious problem to human beings. Deserts can ruin farmland where people grow food and they also damage land where animals live. When one day no food or animals are available for people to eat, they have to leave their homes.

Many reasons make deserts spread. Wind can move sand away from deserts and onto useful land. When there is no rain for a long time, plants will die and deserts will grow. People have also done many things causing the growth of deserts. The air pollution produced by human beings makes an area hotter, and hotter weather helps reduce the amount of rain. When too many people are gathering in one place, the land for growing food will be damaged. Furthermore, when large animals walk on soil too much, they will turn it into dust. Then, the wind will blow this dust away easily.

26. What is the passage mainly about?
(A) Why do human beings need deserts?
(B) Where can we find deserts?
(C) How can people survive in deserts?
(D) What makes deserts grow?
27. According to the first paragraph, what will happen if the deserts keep growing?
(A) More large animals will be raised.
(B) People have to move to other places.
(C) We must spend more money on food.
(D) More farmland will be available.
28. According to the passage, which of the following does NOT cause deserts to grow?
(A) Strong wind.
(B) Plenty of rain.
(C) Too many large animals.
(D) A large number of people.

We all know people who tell great jokes at parties and other gatherings. Perhaps you have wondered whether you could be such a good joke teller. If so, there is good news for you. The skills needed to become a good joke teller can be practiced and learned. While it is true that some people are naturally good at telling jokes, there are a good number of people who have become good joke tellers through practice. Good joke tellers completely understand what their joke is before they start telling it. Good joke tellers can add whatever they want to the joke as they tell it, but they clearly know the details of the beginning, middle and ending of the joke. It is also important to consider who the audience is. The joke teller knows very well that not all jokes are appropriate for all audiences. Finally, for a joke to be successful, it is imperative that the joke has a good punch line. Do you wonder whether you can learn these skills for telling jokes? Robert is fifteen years old and never eats anything except bread and jam; but unbelievably, he is perfectly healthy! Although his diet contains only a little protein and 60 percent sugar, he is 1.84 meters tall, weighs 69 kilograms, and his parents say he has never been seriously ill apart from typical childhood illnesses. Robert rejects any form of meat, fish, fresh fruit, or vegetables. The only time he doesn't eat bread and jam is for breakfast, when he has chocolate cereal, and for snacks, when he occasionally has a slice of chocolate cake. He also drinks two pints of low-fat milk a day. Robert's strange diet started when he was four years old. As a baby, he had refused to eat solid food, and rejected everything until his father gave him a sugar sandwich when he was nine months old. He also ate chocolate spread sandwiches, and this, with milk, was his diet until he was four, when he asked to try jam and started a long-term obsession. Robert sometimes craves variety, but every time he tries something else, he feels sick. Doctors believe that his condition may have been caused by choking on solid food when he was a baby.

33. Which of the following is the most suitable title for this passage?
- (A) Jam Sandwiches and Their Ingredients
 - (B) An Unusual Diet and Its Possible Causes
 - (C) Younger Kids Loving Jam Sandwiches
 - (D) Jam-Eating as a New Healthy Diet
34. Which of the following statements is true of Robert?
- (A) He refuses to eat any protein.
 - (B) He has never been healthy.
 - (C) He eats three ham sandwiches a day.
 - (D) He also eats chocolate cereal and cake.

35. How old was Robert when he developed the jam diet?
- (A) 4 years old.
 - (B) 9 months old.
 - (C) 11 years old.
 - (D) 15 years old.
36. Why did Robert develop the jam diet?
- (A) His original diet contained hardly any protein.
 - (B) He has been ill quite often since childhood.
 - (C) He might have choked on solid food when younger.
 - (D) It is the only diet that goes well with milk.

Wallace and Gromit hit the world stage in 1993 when their short film The Wrong Trousers won an Academy Award. Since then, the animated duo – an eccentric cheese-loving inventor Wallace, and his quiet but highly intelligent dog, Gromit – have become some of the best loved stars to come out of the UK. I was delighted to discover they are back on our screens with a new BBC series, Wallace and Gromit's World of Invention. In the series, Wallace and Gromit explore the wonders of the natural world and look at inventions inspired by Mother Nature. They travel to various locations around the world to meet inventors working on some really fascinating projects. Among them are a robot that takes its inspiration from a Venus fly trap and an artificial gill which allows a person to breathe under water. I was pleasantly surprised to find that Wallace, in his animated form, just plays host to the show, introducing the inventors and their ideas. The rest of the filming is live, on location, and it is this combination of humorous animation mixed with stunning action segments that gives the show its appeal, both entertaining and truly educational for adults and children alike.

37. How did Wallace and Gromit become famous around the world?
- (A) They traveled around the world.
 - (B) Their film won an important award.
 - (C) Gromit was crazy about cheese.
 - (D) Wallace explored the wonders in the world.

38. According to the passage, what is Wallace and Gromit's new BBC series about?
- (A) Wonders in the UK.
 - (B) Mother Nature itself.
 - (C) Nature-inspired inventions.
 - (D) Fascinating animation projects.
39. What is the purpose of this passage?
- (A) To advertise a new TV series.
 - (B) To criticize a robot project.
 - (C) To research the natural wonders.
 - (D) To promote an artificial gill.
40. What can be inferred about Wallace and Gromit from the passage?
- (A) Their new BBC series will only appeal to children.
 - (B) They usually wear the wrong trousers.
 - (C) Their new BBC series is entirely animated.
 - (D) They have not been on TV for a while.
