

注意：考試開始鈴響或綠燈亮前，不可以翻閱試題本

110 學年度身心障礙學生升學大專校院甄試試題本

甄試類(群)組別：二技組

【語文類(一)】

考試科目(編號)：專業科目(一)

英文閱讀能力測驗 (B2319)

—作答注意事項—

1. 考試時間：90 分鐘。
2. 請在答案卷上作答，答案卷每人一張，不得要求增補。
3. 請核對報考甄試類(群)組別、考試科目是否相符。
4. 單選題共 40 題。

單選題，共 40 題，每題 2.5 分

I. 詞彙和結構：請選出一個正確或最適當的答案，並將代表字母 (A、B、C、D) 填入答案卷中。

1. Thanks for the kind words! It's nice to know that you _____ me.
(A) surpass
(B) suspect
(C) support
(D) succeed
2. The factory should not be allowed to pump _____ chemicals into the river.
(A) careful
(B) harmful
(C) skillful
(D) thankful
3. It happened in a sudden, no one is sure what _____ caused the accident.
(A) actually
(B) neutrally
(C) usefully
(D) fiscally
4. The company arranged for a car to _____ Cassie up from the airport.
(A) push
(B) pull
(C) pose
(D) pick
5. Blackpink's new album broke the _____ for the most sales in a one-week period.
(A) course
(B) record
(C) advice
(D) nature

6. The salesperson _____ Mandy to buy the more expensive car model that she does not need.
(A) persuaded
(B) minimized
(C) surprised
(D) described
7. Daniel's _____ actions put all of our lives at risk.
(A) tallish
(B) fairish
(C) selfish
(D) publish
8. The book contains many _____ about the writer's childhood.
(A) dollars
(B) decades
(C) details
(D) dodges
9. At high levels, this gas can have damaging _____ of the environments.
(A) offices
(B) insects
(C) polices
(D) effects
10. A turtle's shell serves as _____ from other animals.
(A) protection
(B) proportion
(C) production
(D) profession
11. This nice apartment is _____ of two bedrooms and a large living room.
(A) consumed
(B) composed
(C) compared
(D) conceded

12. Please keep in mind that the information is very _____, no one else can know about this.
(A) digestive
(B) cognitive
(C) intuitive
(D) sensitive
13. Cindy's son believes that Santa Claus really does _____.
(A) exert
(B) exile
(C) exist
(D) expert
14. If you _____ this trail, it will take you to the other side of the lake.
(A) follow
(B) hallow
(C) willow
(D) mellow
15. You will be _____ for taking notes during the meeting.
(A) fashionable
(B) responsible
(C) sustainable
(D) indivisible

II. 段落填充：請選出一個正確或最適當的答案並將代表字母(A、B、C、D) 填入答案卷中。

Movies are all about appearances. Movie fans know that the action hero in the film "Superman" does not really fly. But in the movie "Superman Returns," another visual trick is 16. The man they see flying is not a real person. 17, he is what is called a virtual actor. The first step in 18 a digital actor is to have a real person stand in a room called a light stage. In this room, a computer records the shape of the actor's face. Special lighting and seven different cameras are used to create the digital image. The light stage permits actors to be turned into digital versions of themselves. Computer experts 19 also developing similar technology for a three-dimension video teleconferencing system. They hope to send a 3-D video image of a person 20 a meeting room. The image would be able to work with the people in the room, who would see it without special eyeglasses. Expert says 3-D meetings would make it seem like all of the attendees are in the room together.

16. (A) using
(B) uses
(C) use
(D) used

17. (A) However
(B) Whereas
(C) Instead
(D) Therefore

18. (A) creates
(B) creating
(C) created
(D) create

19. (A) are
(B) am
(C) is
(D) be

20. (A) for
(B) at
(C) to
(D) in

Just a few decades ago, self-driving cars seemed like science fiction. In 2009, however, Google 21 that it had become invested in self-driving cars, stating its belief that some companies were working on similar technology. Suddenly, the race to create autonomous vehicles had shifted 22 high gear. Google has both modified 23 car models to be self-driving and designed its own prototype: a comfortable two-seater with no steering wheel or pedals—just a power button. Google's prototype employs what is 24 a computer designed for driving which uses lasers, radar, and cameras to detect objects. The company's tests have all had a human driver in the car 25 emergencies, but they've achieved a great safety record.

21. (A) announces
(B) announced
(C) has announced
(D) was announced

22. (A) with
(B) to
(C) into
(D) upon

23. (A) existing
(B) existed
(C) exist
(D) exists

24. (A) traditionally
(B) additionally
(C) basically
(D) automatically

25. (A) in charge of
(B) in need of
(C) in the use of
(D) in case of

III. 閱讀測驗：請選出一個正確或最適當的答案並將代表字母（A、B、C、D）填入答案卷中。

▲閱讀下文，回答第26-28題

The actor has fully prepared himself for his role. He understands his character's emotions, motivations, and current predicament. The actor steps forward and delivers his lines, pouring his heart and soul into every word. However, no one will see this on a big screen or in a theater. That's because he's a voice actor, and he always reads his lines in a recording studio.

Voice acting covers many branches of entertainment. Some of the most successful actors in this field voice iconic cartoon characters from animated movies or TV shows such as The Simpsons. Others make a living performing in radio plays, narrating audio books, or working on commercials. Computer game characters also need a voice. Though there's a growing trend of employing famous Hollywood actors to voice characters in order to provide movies with star power, there are still many unknowns but superbly talented voice actors out there.

If you're the kind of person who loves to read stories aloud and make up the voices for all the different characters, voice acting may be for you. To be a successful voice actor, it's necessary that you have a great voice. You might be naturally gifted in this respect, but it's still a good idea to look for voice training and direction from professional coaches. You must be able to convey emotions and character traits without the help of physical actions or facial expressions.

26. What does a voice actor usually do at work?
(A) He delivers food.
(B) He pours people's hearts and souls.
(C) He records his sound in a studio.
(D) He reads Line messages.
27. What person might NOT be suitable for voice acting?
(A) Mary has a good voice.
(B) Vivian doesn't like to talk to others.
(C) Lily always imitates the pitch of voice of others.
(D) Mitch likes to read stories.
28. What is this article mainly about?
(A) Why some actors prefer not to perform on the stage at all.
(B) People who act by only using their recorded voice.
(C) Famous people who have starred in The Simpsons.
(D) How voice acting has become growing trend lately.

▲ 閱讀下文，回答第29-32題

The age-old question “What do you want to be when you grow up?” is receiving a surprising new answer from young people. A recent survey asked 16 to 25-year-old British participants about their preferred careers and found that the most favored job was vlogger, or video blogger. Vloggers make videos on various topics, ranging from daily routines to makeup tutorials and funny pranks about everyday life. The fascination with this occupation is not limited to the UK; however, it’s growing all over the world.

One of the appeals of being a vlogger is that your shot at stardom includes you simply being yourself. Successful vloggers are relatable; that’s what sets them apart from the poised and polished celebrities on TV. What’s more, this job allows people to be their own boss without a degree or even work experience.

Even though, the role also includes a lot of pressure. Vloggers have to constantly come up with the next best idea to keep their fans entertained. Moreover, if they aren’t feeling well or experience technical difficulties, their videos suffer. It could take only a few seconds of a dull video to make people think a YouTube channel is not worth their time. Besides, it can take up to a year to establish a social media presence, and that’s if you’re successful at all.

If you want to become a vlogger, investing in quality camera equipment, a lighting kit, and video editing software is crucial. After all, poor audio and lousy video quality are two things sure to make people quickly lose interest. It’s also important to determine your personal brand. Decide what you want your YouTube channel to focus on, and choose what you want the tone of your videos to be like. Once you get started, remember to be persistent and have patience as you improve.

29. What is this article mainly about?

- (A) What young people want to be when they grow up.
- (B) A career which is gaining popular all over the world.
- (C) How to make a video more effectively and better.
- (D) How to establish a social media on your own.

30. What is NOT most likely a vlogger will do?

- (A) To play online games all day long.
- (B) To determine your personal brand.
- (C) To make videos on various topics.
- (D) To come up with the next best idea to keep their fans entertained.

31. According to the passage, what social media might be used by vloggers?
(A) Facebook
(B) Twitter
(C) Instagram
(D) YouTube
32. Which of the following is NOT mentioned in the passage?
(A) How to improve yourself to become a vlogger.
(B) What difficulties a vlogger will encounter.
(C) Being a vlogger has been a career for a long time.
(D) Why being a vlogger is popular among the young people.

▲ 閱讀下文，回答第33-36題

Imagine getting constant mean messages on Facebook at all time, no matter day or night. Or think of what it would be like if someone hacked into your cellphone, and suddenly all of your pictures were out there for everyone to see, to mock, and to gossip about. This is cyberbullying, a generally recent trend. It's defined as using information technology to repeatedly and intentionally harm or harass other people. Back in the day, bullying was confined to physical areas such as schools or playgrounds, places where you had personal, face-to-face contact with other people. With cyberbullying, anyone around the world can post things about you on the Internet. While it may not seem as physical as traditional bullying, it can also have tragic consequences.

One example is the case of Ryan Halligan. Ryan had poor speech, language, and motor skill development early on in life, which led to his need for special education services. This made him a regular target of one particular bully at school. Things seemed to get better in February, 2003, when a fight between Ryan and his bully not only ended the problems at school, but also seemingly led to them striking up a friendship. Due to this, Ryan eventually told his "friend" an embarrassing personal story, and the bully used it to start a nasty rumor about Ryan. The taunting got worse, and Ryan tried to seek comfort from a girl he met through an online messenger. Unfortunately, that girl was actually just another bully looking for more embarrassing stories. When Ryan found out, he hanged himself in the family bathroom. He was 13 years old.

33. What is this article mainly about?
- (A) How to use mean message to hurt others.
 - (B) Why many people like to send messages.
 - (C) How cyberbully will cause a problem.
 - (D) How to find true love online.
34. According to the passage, cyberbullying is _____.
- (A) to compete with others through riding a bicycle
 - (B) to send a message to the person you like
 - (C) to play video games with others
 - (D) to use information technology to harm or harass other people
35. Which following is true about Ryan?
- (A) He found true love in the end.
 - (B) He made a lot of friends.
 - (C) He killed himself in his young age.
 - (D) He became a successful person to help others.
36. Which of the following is NOT correct according to the passage?
- (A) Cyberbullying becomes a generally recent trend.
 - (B) Ryan died in his young age because of cyberbullying.
 - (C) Cyberbullying is a bullying through face to face.
 - (D) Cyberbullying can also have tragic consequences.

▲ 閱讀下文，回答第37-40題

My name is Toby, and I'm a potato. People know me by a lot of different names; I get called spud, tater, earth apple, and even Solanum tuberosum by fancy folks with too much education. I consider myself pretty common and humble, but my family and I have seen a lot. Our story begins thousands of years ago, and since then, we've changed the world.

It all started in the Andes Mountains in ancient Peru. It's estimated that people there have been growing my ancestors for around 10,000 years. There's no doubt that they were a major staple for the Inca Empire. Potatoes are pretty tough, and we can grow in fairly chilly areas, such as the Andes, which meant people could rely on my forebears as food when the maize crop failed. This helped the Inca Empire grow, but we potatoes were just getting started.

When the Spanish showed up in the 16th century, they liked the look of my family, so they brought them back to Europe. At first, the Europeans didn't want to consume them at all. This makes sense, since our leaves are toxic, as is our skin if it's exposed to light. They used my relatives to decorate their gardens instead, but it wasn't long before they recognized their virtues as a food.

Let me just take a moment to explain out nutritional value. Potatoes contain plenty of Vitamin C and Vitamin B6, though some of this disappears when we're cooked. There's not a lot of protein in us, but there's almost no fat, and we're great at satisfying hunger. What makes us so appealing as a food crop is that we're relatively easy to grow and can adapt well to a variety of climates. Once the European realized this, my predecessors were ready for the big time.

37. What is this article mainly about?

- (A) To see the different perspective of potatoes.
- (B) How to plant potatoes well.
- (C) To grow potatoes and adapt well to a variety of climates.
- (D) To explain out nutritional value.

38. What contribution did potatoes make to human society?

- (A) They helped people become resistant to numerous diseases.
- (B) When planted alongside grain crops, they made grains stronger.
- (C) They were a stable food source, allowing populations to grow.
- (D) They were used as a kind of fuel during the Industrial Revolution.

39. Where did potatoes start to be grown by people?
- (A) In South America
 - (B) In ancient Spain
 - (C) In the Inca Empire
 - (D) In ancient Peru
40. Which of the following is correct according to the passage?
- (A) Spanish brought them back to Europe in the 18th century.
 - (B) Potatoes get called spud, tater, earth apple, and even Solanum tuberosum.
 - (C) Potatoes contain plenty of Vitamin C and Vitamin B7.
 - (D) The leaves of potatoes are not toxic, as is their skin if it's exposed to light.