Many of us think slavery is a thing of the past. It isn't. A new report from the UN says there are about 50 million people in modern-day slavery. This includes being trapped in forced labor or in forced marriages. The International Labor Organization (ILO), an agency of the UN, created the report. The ILO said around one in 150 people in the world is enslaved in some way. This figure has increased by one fifth in the past few years. It is still growing. This is because of the coronavirus pandemic, climate change, and the cost of living crisis. These things have left people in extreme poverty. The only way they can survive is to work in terrible conditions or be forced into unwanted marriages.

The UN hoped to end this situation by 2030. However, since creating this aim in 2016, the number of people in forced labor or forced marriage shot up by 10 million. The ILO said modern slavery happens when people "cannot refuse or cannot leave because of threats, violence, deception, abuse of power or other forms of force." Women and children are at the most risk. The ILO said this problem existed in rich countries as well as poor nations. An ILO representative said: "It would be a mistake to believe that forced labor is solely the problem of poor countries." He added that more than half of cases of forced labor and a quarter of forced marriages are in "upper-middle-income or high-income countries," with migrant workers more than three times as likely as locals to be affected. For example, the report reveals that Qatar violated labor rights while having migrants working for the soccer World Cup event.

31. Which of the following would be the best title for the article?

- (A) Free Labor
- (B) The History of Soccer World Cup
- (C) World Population on the Rise

- (A) 50%
  - (B) 20%
  - (C) 15%
  - (D) 5%
33. Which of the following idea is NOT mentioned in the article?
- (A) COVID-19
  - (B) high living expenses
  - (C) managers
  - (D) migrant workers
34. Which statement is true?
- (A) Local citizens in richer nations are more likely to work willingly.
  - (B) Forced marriages only happen in poor countries.
  - (C) Only children and women are forced into labor or marriage.
  - (D) The UN says all modern slavery will end by 2030.
35. Which statement is NOT true?
- (A) People who suffer from forced labor or forced marriage are considered modern slaves.
  - (B) The total number of people in modern slavery is 10 million from 2016 to 2030.
  - (C) One in 150 of the world's population is enslaved.
  - (D) In addition to the pandemic and high living costs, climate change has made people very poor.

You can find the names of colors in a lot of English expressions. Many of these expressions talk about colors in very different ways. For example, the expression black and white can have different meanings. If something is black and white, it means it is clear, easy to understand. However, some people see everything in black and white, which means that they judge everything they see as either good or bad.

The color red is often used to talk about things that are hot or exciting. You can listen to red-hot jazz music or eat red-hot chili peppers. If you roll out the red carpet for someone, you are giving them a big welcome. On the other hand, if you do something embarrassing, perhaps your face becomes red. Your teacher's face might be red with anger, too. Or if you see a person doing something bad on purpose, like taking someone's money, you can say that you caught the person red-handed. Whether it's good or bad, red usually means something interesting is happening.

Blue is different. When people are blue, or have got the blues, it means they feel sad. Blue isn't always a sad color, though. If something good happens to you when you're not expecting it, like when you get a good idea, or if you run into an old friend, you can say it happened out of the blue.

Green is another color that can have very different meanings. In the past, being green was almost always something negative. For example, if you ride on a boat and feel seasick, your face may look green. If you are starting a new job, your boss may say you are green, which means that you don't have any experience. Now, however, green is usually good. Being green more often means doing good things for the environment.

Learning new expressions with colors can be fun, but it's not always easy. As you can see, their meanings can sometimes be very different. Try looking for these expressions in the things you read. If you learn more about how these expressions are used, you may add a little color to your writing.

36. What is the main idea of this article?

- (A) learning the names of colors
- (B) how people feel when they see colors

(A) black, white, red, purple, blue
(B) black, red, blue, green, yellow
(C) black, white, red, blue, green
(D) black, green, brown, red, white
39. In this article, the author shows that _____.
(A) the expression “black and white” always has a bad meaning
(B) being blue means feeling sad
(C) learning color expressions is bad for writing
(D) red is related to something good
40. Which of the following is true of this article?
(A) If something good happens to you when you’re not expecting it, you can say it happened out of white.
